

The Stone Soup Leadership Institute's
Black History Month
Week of February 6 - 12, 2022

“C'mon down. Join us. It's time for you to take control of your lives! Glide is much more than a church, it's a community, a place of unconditional love and support.”

Reverend Cecil Williams
Glide Memorial Church
San Francisco
California

CULTURAL HEALING

Rev. Cecil Williams is cofounder of the Glide Foundation and pastor emeritus of the Glide Memorial Church in San Francisco, which has been serving its community through “love in action” for 60 years. You can read Rev. Williams’ story in Stone Soup for the World.

BLACK HISTORY MONTH

So impressive and moving!
A perfect book for these difficult times, a tremendous gift to the world.
Your story makes it more special, weaving tender intergenerational inspiration.
You have put it together in a way that is really powerful.
Love embraces justice.

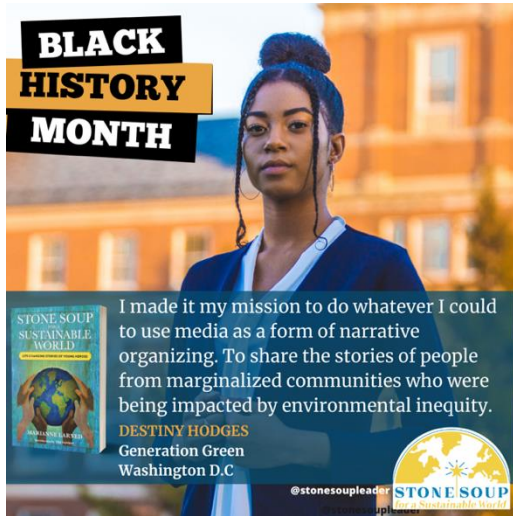

FELICIA DAVIS,
HBCU Green Fund

@stonesoupleader

Thank you @FeliciaMDavis – and Happy Birthday! Felicia is an intergenerational champion for intersectional #sustainability. She & her daughter #IllaiKenney founded the @HBCUGreenFund to advance sustainability at historically black colleges and universities, support interdisciplinary sustainability curricula & promote student engagement in sustainability initiatives. #Sustainability

“Engaging & implementing effective solutions can’t happen without the knowledge, wisdom, understanding & expertise of those who have experienced it,” says #DestinyHodges. She founded @Generation_Green, a Black youth-led, intergenerational community weaving together all facets of Black life and social justice through environmental liberation.

Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. wrote one of the most famous letters in American history. The story Letter from a Birmingham Jail in Stone Soup for the World shares how King struggled to march that day, knowing he would be jailed. His courageous actions and writing had an enormous impact on civil rights for people around the world. #BlackHistoryMonth #CivilRightsMovement @thekingcenter

Congressman John Lewis was one of the youngest and most courageous members of the Civil Rights Movement, a long-time US Representative from Georgia, and a powerful champion for voting rights. His story is told in Stone Soup for the World, and the Stone Soup Educational Curriculum.
