In honor of Gandhi's birthday

Sunday: Gandhi's Quote

DID YOU KNOW? Gandhi's non-violent civil disobedience inspired future world leaders like Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., César Chávez and Nelson Mandela.

"Stone Soup for the World" features a collection of ideas for how you can be of service and be the change you want to see in the world.

Monday: Gandhi Hero Report

Mahatma Gandhi had a very ambitious mission: to teach total nonviolence to the people of India. He had used civil disobedience and his fasts to free India from British imperialism in 1946. Now he wanted to teach his people how to create peace and racial harmony.

Our Pledge
 We accept Walter Cronkite's challenge for a new kind of engaged activism, to be a force for positive change in the world.

We carry on the legacy of Mahatma Gandhi, Eleanor Roosevelt, Cesar Chavez and Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. to improve the conditions of our neighborhoods, our countries and the world through individual action and working with others.

Together, we will forge new directions for the global economy, bridge the gap between the haves and have nots and strive to build a more peaceful, sustainable world.

Walter Cronkite presents The Institute's Gandhi Award to Dr. Muhammed Yunus, Grameen Bank Nobel Peace Prize 2006

Much like Gandhi's Salt March, which freed India's poor, your microcredit movement is freeing the world's poor so we can all work together to build a more peaceful world.

Wednesday: The Institute's Gandhi Award by Walter Cronkite

The Stone Soup Leadership is a pioneer in recognizing grassroots leaders that build a sustainable world. Today we remember when Walter Cronkite presented the Institute's first Gandhi Award to Dr. Muhammed Yunus and the Grameen Bank for transforming millions of lives with microcredit/microfinance programs.

Friday Reads: Story of the Week

Gandhi's grandson tells how the great teacher helped Souren Bannetji to learn how to forgive. Out of tragedy, Souren was able to create a new life for himself and his new family. He came to understand Gandhi's words: "Change can come only one life at a time."
