

The Stone Soup Leadership Institute's
Story of the Week: James Ellsmoor
Week of April 4 - April 10, 2021

Sunday: Thrive Global: Connecting Islands Virtually for Climate Action

#SundayThoughts: This week's story on Arianna Huffington's Thrive Global showcases island sustainability leader, James Ellsmoor who founded Island Innovation, a green consultancy and advisory firm focused on SIDS - Small Island Developing States. Their Virtual Island Summit connects global island communities on a common digital platform. At the 2019 summit, 100+ island communities were involved.

CONNECTING ISLANDS VIRTUALLY FOR CLIMATE ACTION
James Ellsmoor
United Kingdom

James Ellsmoor is a renewable energy advocate, digital nomad, and serial green entrepreneur. He is cofounder of Solar Head of State (SHOS), a non-profit organization whose mission is "To help world leaders become green leaders." SHOS installed solar panels on the White House during Barack Obama's presidency, to raise awareness about renewable energy alternatives. SHOS has also completed installations for the President of The Maldives, the Office of the Prime Minister of Jamaica, and the Government House in St. Lucia.

James went on to create Island Innovation, a green consultancy and advisory firm focused on SIDS. Out of this, The Virtual Island Summit was created - a free online event aimed at connecting global island communities on a common digital platform. At the 2019 summit, 100+ island communities were involved. In 2017, he was recognized on Forbes Magazine's 30 Under 30 List.
