Friday: Fridays for Educators

We are pleased to announce the Spanish version of our new book, Stone Soup for a Sustainable World: Life-Changing Stories of Young Heroes. Environmental justice begins with equitable education for all students. We want to do whatever we can to fully engage all young people in discovering their own sustainability-solutions. When Latinx youth read these stories in their own language and meet leaders who look like them, they are inspired to learn, stay in school, realize their dreams for building a more just, equitable and sustainable world.
