Story of the Week: Young Acts of Courage, Dr. Melba Pattillo Beals
Week of February 21 - 27, 2021

Sunday: Thrive Global: Young Acts of Courage

#SundayThoughts: For Black History Month with this story on @AriannaHuff's @Thrive Global, we honor Dr. Melba Pattillo Beals and the Little Rock Nine – the first Black students to integrate Little Rock, Arkansas Central High School. When Brown v. The Board of Education made racial segregation of public schools unconstitutional in 1954, our country began a journey to provide equal education to all Americans. Melba was a pioneer and today, she's a legend for those still fighting for these equal rights.

Wednesday: Honor Roll: Black Girl Freedom Fund

#CalltoAction Investing in the education of Black girls and young women like Melba Beals is essential for our country to move forward towards equality: racial, education, environmental and economic. The Black Girls Freedom Fund invites us to imagine what 2030 can look like if we invest $1 billion in Black girls and young women over the next 10 years. “It’s important to say to Black girls, ‘You deserve a fund like this; you deserve a billion dollars.’” says co-founder Salamishah Tillet.

As I listened to Melba Beals Patillo and Nane Alejandrez it struck me that these incredible people with Dr. King Jr. fought so hard so my generation has the opportunities we do today. It's important to continue their legacy, to carry the torch, and to gather my peers to continue the dream of a better world. It's our turn now!

Friday: Young Acts of Courage

#FridayReads Read the inspiring story of how Dr. Melba Pattillo Beals of the Little Rock Nine mustered the courage, conviction, and faith to pursue her dream of a good education, while facing strong resistance from those who wanted to deprive -- her just because of the color of her skin. Melba's grandmother's words gave her the strength she needed, "Make this day the best you can."

Saturday: Dr. Melba Pattillo Beals' book, Warriors Don't Cry

#SaturdayThoughts: In Dr. Melba Pattillo Beals' award winning memoir, Warriors Don't Cry, she looks back at how her integration experience forged her fate as a warrior for civil rights and taught her to have courage and patience. This book challenges us to see how the human rights of justice and educational choice are relevant today.
