Monday: Julia Butterfly Hill Story

Julia Butterfly Hill’s courageous decision to protect the redwoods – no matter what – led her to live in a tree for 738 days. Perseverance is a powerful lesson for the #ClimateAction movement. Where are the places you love and want to protect? “You, yes you, make the difference.”

Monday: Tongass National Forest

Thank you to those, esp. in the indigenous community, who took a stand for our forests. @WH restores protection for Tongass Nat’l Forest in #Alaska – a temperate #rainforest that stores a billion metric tons of #carbon 🌲 Protecting it is important to combat #climatechange. Steps in the right direction!
